INSCRIPTIONS IN THE CHURCH

ON A VERY HANDSOME MARBLE MONUMENT IN THE FIGURE OF HOPE, KNEELING, HOLDING A HEART; AND UPON A LABEL IS WRITTEN,

“An Offering of a free Heart i give to thee O my God.”

Over which, on an oval fhield, are the Arms of YATE, viz Azure, a fefs in chief 2 Mulletts Or.

Motto,-- “Que virtuss vocat.”

Here lyeth the Body of JOHN YATE, Esq. Lord of this Manor.

The last male Heir of his Family, and only Son of CHARLES YATE, Esq.

He was in the Commission of the Peace, one of the Deputy Lieutenants of this County, and Deputy Constable of St.Briavel’s Castle. Descended from a long Race of worthy Ancestors: He improved his native Virtues with every amiable Qualification, that gains the Love and Veneration of Mankind. A lively sense and uniform Practice of Religion, accompanied with Candour, Affability, and Sweetness of Temper, filled him with Joy and inward Satisfaction. Charity, Compassion, and Universal Benevolence, chiefly directed the Disposal of his ample Fortune.

Of purest Morals, of an irreproachable Life, of filial Affection, Of sincerity in Friendship, of true Honour, or Integrity of Heart, He was an uncommon Example, with this admirable Assemblage Of virtues, joined to a polite Taste of Literature;

The Scholar in Him accomplished the Gentleman,

As the Christian perfected the Man.

In the flower of Youth

Expecting, but not fearing Death,

He willingly resigned his Soul to God on the 24th May 1758, aged 27.

To whose ever dear and honoured Memory,

This monument is erected

by his most truly affectionate,

and much afflicted

Mother,

M.Y.

ON A HANDSOME MARBLE MONUMENT, ARE THE FOLLOWING ARMS AND INSCRIPTION; viz.

Quarterly, 1st Azure, a Fefs, in chief 2 Mulletts Or, for YATE; 2d, Gules, a Chevron between 3 crosses parry Argent, for BERKELY; 3d Gules, a Buck's head cabofed Or, for BOX; 4th, a Lion rampant, for PRICE; -- 3 lions heads erafed in chief, and a cinquefoil in bafe; on which impalement is an Escoccheon of Pretence, or quarterly 4 martlets.---Motto, "Quo virtus vocat."

Blessed are the Merciful, for they shall obtain mercy.

Near this place

Lyeth the Body of CHARLES YATE, Esq.

Who died the 11th Nobember, 1738, aged 46

He was one of his majesties Justices of the Peace, as likewise Deputy Lieutenant of this County. He discharged with Justice and Equity to all, and with Honour and Reputation to Himself, the offices of a Magistrate and a Christian. His Authority might have made him respected whilst alive; but it was the peculiar Sweetness and Affability of his Manners, his great Kindness and Humanity to all, his agreeable Chearfulness of Disposition, annexed to a virtuous mind, which could alone render him so truly regretted when dead.
